Walter Kaufmann, Humanist Hero

Join us at the Unitarian Society of New Haven, 700 Hartford Turnpike in Hamden, on Monday, May 19 at 7:30 p.m. when Douglas Peary will introduce us to his latest Humanist Hero, Walter Kaufmann. Doug says of Kaufmann, "He wrote some of the finest books I have ever had the privilege to read."

Walter Kaufmann was a professor of philosophy at Princeton. Raised as a Christian in Germany where he was born in 1920, he converted to Judaism on his own at age 12 because he could not believe in the trinity. Imagine his surprise to learn that he was already a Jew and his grandmother had converted to Christianity. In 1938 he came to the United States and attended Williams college where he became a skeptic and unbeliever. He died at the early age of 60 in 1980.

As is our custom, we'll start off with twenty minutes of informal conversation and refreshments at 7:30 p.m. At 7:50 June Schafer will speak briefly on the popular topic "Why I Am a Humanist." Doug Peary's talk will begin promptly at 8:00. Bring a friend and join us Monday, May 19!

Dinners and Evil

We will be meeting for a purely social at Gabriele Restaurant, 326 Boston Post Road, Orange, on Monday, June 9.

We'll also be meeting for dinner in Woodbury at the Curtis House on Wednesday, May 28, at 7:00 p.m.

On June 30, at 6:30 p.m., Dr. Nash Boutros has agreed to give an encore of his presentation on evil, which may take place at the Curtis House, provided we have sufficient numbers to reserve their larger room, so that we may continue with a lively discussion over dinner. In order to allow more time for discussion, we will begin a half hour earlier than usual.

Please RSVP for any of these events to Carol Stone ((203) 264-8546 or editor@cthumanist.org).

Freethinker Support Group

Bob Wolsch has let us know, "To get started, we've reserved MUUS on the first two Sundays in July, 3-5 p.m., for the Freethinker Support Group." MUUS is the Mattatuck Unitarian Universalist Society, 122 South Pomperaug Avenue in Woodbury. Watch this space for more information!
