Ending Homelessness in Our Time

Join us on Monday, April 18, at 7:00 p.m. at 700 Hartford Turnpike in Hamden to celebrate our 27th anniversary with a potluck dinner (please bring something!) and a talk by Alison Cunningham, Executive Director of Columbus House.

Governor Malloy recently announced that Connecticut has ended homelessness for Veterans. There is a statewide effort to end all forms of chronic homelessness by the end of this year; the campaign is named Zero: 2016.

What does it mean to declare an end of any kind of homelessness? How are we accomplishing this goal? What happens next?

Alison Cunningham will talk about these recent milestones, citing best practices and current trends in addressing the issue of homelessness in our region and across the state.

Columbus House, Inc., opened its doors in 1981 to serve people who are homeless or at risk of homelessness by providing shelter and housing and by fostering their personal growth. Alison Cunningham served as Shelter Manager from 1987 to 1989, then served on the Board of Directors until 1996. She began her tenure as Executive Director in 1998.

Under Cunningham's leadership, Columbus House has shifted its focus from managing homelessness to finding the solutions to end it. The agency now supports over 350 people in permanent supportive housing across the state, has a robust rapid re-housing program and has been a model for integrating services that help people regain their independence. In October 2013, Columbus House opened the first state-funded respite program, serving twelve people who are homeless in a recuperative care setting. These and other focused initiatives provide intensive services that help people move out of homelessness.

Cunningham currently serves on the Reaching Home Steering Committee, is the former Co-Chair of Greater New Haven Opening Doors, and has served two terms on the board of directors of the Connecticut Coalition to End Homelessness, as well as other boards and committees. She graduated from Yale Divinity School with an M.Div. in 1984 and was awarded an Honorary Degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from Albertus Magnus in 2005.

We'll start with a potluck dinner at the new time of 7:00 p.m. Our main talk will follow brief

Humanist Conversations: The Ten Year Lunch

Join us on Sunday, April 10, 2015 at 2:45 p.m. in the library at 700 Hartford Turnpike in Hamden.

As we continue to broaden the focus of Conversations, the consideration of multiple aspects of the Human experience is paramount. Science, The Humanities, Arts and Letters, and many other disciplines are all worth consideration, but conversation is often overlooked despite its import. Humor is another component of the Human experience, and a vastly underrated one at that. Join us as we return to the 1920's to experience the great wit of the authors and artists who were the members of the Algonquin Round Table and the society they inhabited. Refreshments will be served.

Humanist Blood Drive — May 5

The Atheist Humanist Society of CT and RI is hosting a Red Cross Blood Drive for the National Day of Reason. The Blood Drive will be at the New London Public Library from 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Thursday, May 5, 2016. Please, if you can, take the opportunity to give at this event. The Red Cross was difficult to convince to run this event in the first place, and the drive must meet their collection goals in order to continue from year-to-year. You must register in advance to participate.

April 30 Outing: Yale Peabody Museum

Join us on Saturday, April 30, at 11:00 a.m. at the Peabody Museum of Natural History, located at 170 Whitney Avenue in New Haven, for a self-guided tour of the Fossil Fragments: The Riddle of Human Origins exhibit. Rebecca has arranged for a $5 ticket price, so contact her to RSVP at (203) 900-4221 or development@cthumanist.org. Learn about the scientists who brought this wealth of information to our world and then view the fossil records that remind us we were not always human. To save your spot, please RSVP on meetup or email at development@cthumanist.org. Don't want to drive into the city? Take the J bus from the Hamden plaza (23 minute bus ride); a one day pass is $3. For those interested in lunch and chatting about the exhibit, we will find a restaurant at the end and do separate checks.

Watch these pages for upcoming plans for details of a tour of Grove Cemetery, the oldest incorporated cemetery in the USA, a trip to the Yale Center for British Art (which is re-opening in May), and more!

Reason Rally 2016

The second Reason Rally will be held at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, DC, from Thursday, June 2, to Sunday, June 5. The free main event will be held on Saturday, June 4.

For more information please visit <http://reasonrally.org/>.

On Monday, April 4, they will hold a STEAMMM activity at 3:00 p.m. and a Needs of New Haven Aids Project at 7:30 p.m.

On Tuesday, April 5, Jamil Smith will talk on “Question All Authority: Intersectional Journalism as a Humanizing Force” at 7:30 p.m.

On Wednesday, April 6, the launch party for the crowdfunding phase of the Green Light Project will take place at 7:30 p.m.

On Thursday, April 7, Lesley Hazleton will talk on “The Agnostic Adventure: How Mystery and Doubt Keep Us Human.”

On Friday, April 8, Peter Manseau will talk on “Twenty Gods or None: Belief, Unbelief, and the Making of a Nation” at 6:00 p.m.

Finally, on Saturday, April 9, Dr. Laurie Santos will lead an Animal Gratitude Ceremony at 1:00 p.m.

For more information and to RSVP, please visit <http://yalehumanists.com/week2016/>.

Book Discussion: “Nature’s God”

Our book for April is Nature’s God: The Heretical Origins of the American Republic by Matthew Stewart. The discussion will take place Saturday, April 16, 2016 at 2:00 p.m. in the library of the Unitarian Society of New Haven at 700 Hartford Turnpike in Hamden.

From Amazon: “America’s founders intended to liberate us not just from one king but from the ghostly tyranny of supernatural religion. Drawing deeply on the study of European philosophy, Matthew Stewart brilliantly tracks the ancient, pagan, and continental ideas from which America’s revolutionaries drew their inspiration. In the writings of Spinoza, Lucretius, and other great philosophers, Stewart recovers the true meanings of ‘Nature’s God,’ ‘the pursuit of happiness,’ and the radical political theory with which the American experiment in self-government began.”

(Discover how the founding principles of America tie to our earlier selection, The Swerve: “The revival of the Epicurean philosophy that followed upon the rediscovery of Lucretius in early modern Europe was the decisive episode in the history of modern thought [emphasis added]. It was more important than what we now call the scientific revolution, which was really its consequence rather than its cause.” - pg. 80 of “Nature’s God”)

“A lively, powerful, and erudite refutation of the myth that the framers of our secular Constitution had any intention of founding an orthodox Christian nation.” — Susan Jacoby, author of Freethinkers: A History of American Secularism

The book is readily available in numerous libraries around the state.

Refreshments will be served.

Our book for Saturday, May 21 will be Man’s Search for Meaning by Viktor E. Frankl.

Week of Action 2016: April 28 – May 4

Join the Hartford Area Humanists at the 33rd Annual Foodshare Walk Against Hunger on May 1 at 12:30 p.m. Register with Team Hartford Area Humanists at <http://hartfordhumanists.org/walk>. If you need a ride to Hartford, please call Rebecca at (203) 900-4221.

The Week of Action is an initiative of the Foundation Beyond Belief in response to the National Day of Prayer and National Day of Reason as a way to come together regardless of beliefs to benefit our communities. Foundation Beyond Belief is urging all humanists to do at least one good deed during Week of Action. The actions can be large or small, with groups or as individuals, and benefitting entire communities or a single person.

USNH Social Cinema

USNH social cinema at 700 Hartford Turnpike in Hamden moves to the first Saturday for the month of April. The optional potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 2, will be followed by the documentary film Divide In Concord at 7:15 p.m.

In 1775 in Concord, Mass., patriots fired the famous “shot heard round the world” that began the American Revolution. Now follow a modern day revolution as 84 year-old Jean Hill wages war against the bottled water industry. For three years Jean has worked to rid the town of Concord of single-serve plastic water bottles. Witness the story of her controversial crusade.

Bring your returnable bottles to Social Cinema both as a donation to help support awareness of environmental issues, and as a visible statement of how much plastic we create.

For more information call 203-288-1807 or email office@usnh.org

Speaker Fund Challenge Results!

Development committee chair Rebecca Williams offered to match up to $250 of total donations to the speaker fund between New Year and the March 21 monthly meeting. We’re pleased to announce that due to some generous donations, $125 was raised and Rebecca will be matching that amount. Thank you, Rebecca!

USNH Passover Seder

The USNH Passover Seder will be held on Saturday April 23 at 6:00 p.m. and features a participatory retelling of the Exodus story from a contemporary social justice perspective. It is a potluck, and HAC member Amy Wexler has a ton of suitable recipes. No bread is allowed; this is part of the tradition. RSVP to Amy at 203-901-0300, or by email at blueroosters@aol.com

Thornton Street, Hamden, CT 06517-1321. Submissions and requests for permission to reprint articles should be made to this address or to editor@cthumanist.org. We welcome humanist-themed letters, articles, poetry, news items, cartoons, and illustrations.

Please include a SASE to have material returned. Approximate circulation: 180 copies. Annual subscription price $10.00, included in membership.
The editor would like to thank everyone who contributed to this issue.
